

COVID-19 Client Services Update

Amidst the COVID-19 virus outbreak, Southern Valley Alliance for Battered Women will continue to provide vital crisis programs for victims of domestic violence in Scott and Carver Counties. At this time we will not be providing any in-person services.

We are still here for you.

Advocates are available to help 24/7 on our crisis line 952-873-4214

Though we are unable to meet face-to-face, there are many services we can offer over the phone:

- Safety Planning
- Guidance on how to report abuse
- Emotional support
- Guidance on how to find safe shelter
- Information on Orders for Protection and how to obtain them
- Community partner updates

As always, if you are in an unsafe living situation, are co-quarantined with an abuser, or suspect child abuse or neglect, please call 911.

Advocates are also available Monday-Friday 8:30-5 at crisis@svabw.org

If you are interested in virtual support groups please contact angie.o@svabw.org

If you are interested in virtual child visitation options please contact twyla.o@svabw.org

Social distancing does not mean you are alone.
