Earned sick and safe time overview

- Effective Jan. 1, 2024, Minnesota's earned sick and safe time law requires employers to provide paid leave to employees who work in the state.
- Minnesota's current sick and safe leave law remains in effect until Dec. 31, 2023.

What is sick and safe time?

Sick and safe time is paid time off that employees in Minnesota can use for certain reasons, including when they are sick, to care for a sick family member or to seek assistance if they or a family member have experienced domestic abuse.

Who is eligible for sick and safe time?

An employee is eligible for sick and safe time if they:

- work at least 80 hours in a year for an employer in Minnesota; and
- are not an independent contractor.

Temporary and part-time employees are eligible for sick and safe time.

How much sick and safe time can employees earn?

An employee earns one hour of sick and safe time for every 30 hours worked and can earn a maximum of 48 hours each year unless the employer agrees to a higher amount.

What can sick and safe time be used for?

Employees can use their earned sick and safe time for any of the following:

- the employee's mental or physical illness, treatment or preventive care;
- a family member's mental or physical illness, treatment or preventive care;
- absence due to domestic abuse, sexual assault or stalking of the employee or a family member;
- closure of the employee's workplace due to weather or public emergency or closure of a family member's school or care facility due to weather or public emergency; and
- when determined by a health authority or health care professional that the employee or family member is at risk of infecting others with a communicable disease.

Sick and safe time responsibilities for employers

- Earnings statement
- Employee notice

The screenshot shows a web browser window with a dark blue sidebar on the left containing the text "WORKERS' COMPENSATION - BUSINESSSES". The main content area has a heading "What additional sick and safe time responsibilities do employers have?". Below the heading, it states that employers are required to provide one hour of paid leave for every 30 hours worked, up to at least 48 hours each year. A bulleted list follows, detailing requirements for earnings statements, employee notices, and handbook inclusions. The text continues to mention that the Minnesota Department of Labor and Industry will provide a uniform employee notice. Below this, there is a section for "Current sick and safe time local ordinances" and another for "Sick and safe time resources".

What additional sick and safe time responsibilities do employers have?

In addition to providing their employees with one hour of paid leave for every 30 hours worked, up to at least 48 hours each year, employers are required to:

- include the total number of earned sick and safe time hours accrued and available for use, as well as the total number of earned sick and safe time hours used, on earnings statements provided to employees at the end of each pay period;
- provide employees with a notice by Jan. 1, 2024 — or at the start of employment, whichever is later — in English and in an employee's primary language if that is not English, informing them about earned sick and safe time; and
- include a sick and safe time notice in the employee handbook, if the employer has an employee handbook.

The Minnesota Department of Labor and Industry will prepare a uniform employee notice that employers can use and will make it available in the five most common languages spoken in Minnesota.

Current sick and safe time local ordinances

Earned sick and safe time local ordinances already exist in the cities of Bloomington, Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minnesota. When Minnesota's statewide earned sick and safe time law goes into effect Jan. 1, 2024, employers must follow the most protective law that applies to their employees.
